Testament, which I undertook some four or five years ago the Delegates of the University Press, I was speedily led to the the preparations made by Bentley for the same purpose, was other interesting notices in his correspondence with his court J. J. Wetstein and J. Walker, I found that he laid great stress a Manuscript called the Germanum Latum, in the library of Germain de Prés at Paris. Wetstein, writing on the 3rd Nov. (Bentley's Germanum Case, Ep. 198, ed. Wordsworth, Lond, 1842), and implies that it could not be found at the time of his tentley, and implies that it could not be found at the time of his Three years later Pentley sent a young Fellow of Trinity College, and John Walker, to work for him in Paris, and writes to him strongly this subject in a letter dated Trin. Coll. Sept. 13, 1719 (Ep. 213, 1844), as follows:—

Robert Stephens and out a Latin Bible, Folio Paris 1546<sup>1</sup>. In New Testament he used several MSS. out of St. German's Library; the marks Germ Latin, a square book, which, by the Lections, I have to be the very best in Paris. In my own visits to the National Library at Paris in 1882 and 1863. I naturally made a special point of identifying the MSS. collated by Walker<sup>4</sup>, and this in particular. I found that though it was highly attemed by earlier scholars—as will appear in the sequel—it had not apparently been much examined of late, except for the fragment of the Shepherd of Herman which it contains at the end of the volume, and that apparently no detailed description of it existed in print.

This is a reprint of the edition referred to in Appendix I, published 1538-40. I possess a copy of it purchased at Parms.

See the list in Appendix II.

Beliefe has of course renumbered the St. Germain MSS. in his lieuwentory of the Latin MSS. of the National Library, the first of which was published in 1863. The inventory of the St. which collection appeared in 1868 in the Bibliothèque de l'École des courses 6, tource i, ill, and iv. Our MS., as I said, is Lat. 11,553.

The book, which is the second volume that was lost cometime between 1540 and 1680, the first of which was lost sometime between 1540 and 1680, to be been according to the wilders of the grain of grain of moderately stout wellum (i.e. folios 1-189+130 bis+140 bis) using 151 inches in height, by 13 in breadth (centimetres 39.3 × 33). The considerable breadth it was called by Robert Stephens 'Germanum oblongum' (now Lat. 5. Walker's o (2)). In external appearance it is, as I have said, the another well-known MS. of the same collection now numbered 11.520-3. Walker's 12.

The gatherings are generally quaternions, numbered as follows, and I-(XII), the last being unmarked. These marks are placed in senter of the lower margin of the first leaf of each gathering. The builty is a complete magneration of the signatures.

means of unexampled size, as may be seen by the descriptions in the first and second appendices.

The pages are divided into two columns, each ruled with 52 lines, and there are on an average 37-38 letters to a line. I have noticed hing specially remarkable in the writing. The ornamentation is fised to the use of red for the uncial work of the titles, subscriptions, d beginnings of capitula, and a few important words in the body of text; such as AURUM THUS ET MURRAM and PATER NOSTER QUI ES IN CAELIS in the text below, and to a small number of initial letters of a more ambitious kind. For instance, the large P at the beginning of the first Epistle to Timothy contains inside its upper part a dragon tanding in an affected attitude on one leg, cleverly drawn in brown ink, and the M of Multifacture in the Epistle to the Hebrews is a grotesque aposition made up of the bodies of fish with floriated points.

There is also a curious arrangement of numbers in a wheel-like probably accept the suggestion of M. Henry Omont of the National Library at Paris and read Notarius. My own conjectural reading of the name itself is Rathbold, which I find in Teutonic name-lists in the forms Ratbold, Ratboldus, and Ruadpald, and which seems to be identical etymologically, or at least sometimes interchangeable, with Rathbod, Ratbold or Radbod. A Ratbaldus

I had at one time thought of Rhphael, but that is a name apparently unknown in Gaul, at least at this date, and (what is more important) does not exhaust the letters which seem to make up the monogram. It omits what appears to be a T, visible inside the lower half of the A, and reads as E what high authorities assert to be a B looking backwards. I had also thought of Lethers, but it too must be rejected for the last of the abovementioned reasons, and the letter L is hardly prominent enough to be the first of the name. For if there is any rule that can be laid down on the subject of that most important of all letters to the decipherer, namely the initial, it is that it should be one of the most striking in its position in the monogram: but even this is disputed. Nor must I conceal the fact that Dr. W. Wattenbach (who has kindly favoured me with a note)

The other forms are in the same lists, to which Dr. Stubbs has called my attention, especially pp. 106 and 118. See also A. F. Pott, Personen-names, p. 234, l. s, Leipzig, 1853. Radios' is the name not only of a Frisian king who refused to be baptized, but of bishops of Utracht, Treves, Noyon, and elsewhere. The one nearest the supposed date of our MS. was 67th Bishop or Archbishop of Treves in 880, and had been before Abbat of Epternach.

I conclude therefore that our reviser lived soon after or about the time of Alcuin, though it is of course quite possible that his work, with all its subscriptions, was copied at a subsequent date. There is perhaps a hint of this in the vacant line on fol. 134 B, after the words 'Quicumque legis: obsecto rogo dicas pax tibi scribtor. Orare non pigeat per ipsum te peto omnipotentem: et memor esto . . . . ,' as if a name had followed in the original, which the supposed Rathbold or Ratboth had omitted in his copy. This might explain the title 'Notarius' in the marginal monogram, which seems more fitting to a copyist than to an original editor.

Leaving these questions to await further elucidation we now turn to the external history of the book, which does not become known to us till about a century after the invention of printing. The first person to notice it was the vigorous and enterprising printer Robert Stephens, whose Biblical work taken all together had perhaps more influence than that of any other single man in the sixteenth century. He had worked at Latin MSS. as early as 1524, and had consulted two in the St. Germain's Library, but ours was not one of them (see Appendix I, p. 47). He consequently does not seem to have used it in his folio Bibles of 1528 and 1532, though in the latter he commenced the practice of printing variations of reading in the margin, without however citing authorities in detail. But in 1538 he began to publish a folio Bible which marks an epoch in general scholarship as well as in Biblical criticism. In it he Ideo Vetus et Nomm Testamentum al insimal scribitur, Vetus et Nomm Insimal Pandectes dicitur.' The pamage is clearly corrupt: we may perhaps read, 'Pandectes id est omnia ferens. Ideo Vetus et Nomm Testamentum al insimal scribitur Pandectes dicimus'—all the errors being from expeless dittography. 'Bibliotheca' is found in the same sense in the verses of Sedulius (circa A.D. 430) beginning 'Hieronyme interpres,' (quoted e.g. on fol. iv of the Codex Amiatinus, ed. Tischendorf, p. xvi.) It continued in use till the thirteenth century, as we see from the work of Alexander Neckham called Elucidarium Bibliothecae, a capy of which is in the Kings Library at the British Museum, numbered 2 D VIII. 2, Casley's Catalogue, p. 35.

In this remarkable book of R. Stephens, of which the Bodleian Library possesses an exquisitely printed copy on vellum formerly in the possession of Henry VIII 1, our MS. is for the first time cited.

It appears in company with four others from the church of St. Germain, two from St. Denys, an uncertain number from St. Victor, and single copies from St. Taurinus of Evreux, Soissons (probably the cathedral), the Sorbonne, and an unnamed private collection<sup>2</sup>. Stephens gives no special praise to our book, and evidently collated it in a very perfunctory manner, but he picks out a number of the readings which were most important for his purpose—the restitution of St. Jerome's version. Thus he gives such striking texts as:

Matt. iii. 16, 'uenientem super ipsum' for super se: see Lucas Brugensis bere.

Mark xiv. 8, 'nardi pistici' for spicati.

Luke xi. 8, om. 'si ille perseuerauerit pulsans' (with Erasmus' Paulinum).

at in the margin), instead of calling it a commentary. Similarly Padre Curci, in his valuable amentaries recently published, gives the Italian and Latin at the top of the page, and calls am Il Peatterio and Il News Testamento.

1 The Hebrew names and Index were printed first in 1538, the New Testament in 1539, at the Old Testament in 1540. It is a curious fact that in the Bodleian copy, which was no doubt sent over in parts, very possibly as a present from the printer, the Royal Arms are differently emblaconed. In the New Testament we find the Arms of Henry VIII with the earliest supporters, vis. the red dragon on the dexter side and the greyhound on the sinister, while the Old has the later arrangement, in which the lion takes the dexter side and the dragon the sinister, the greyhound (of the Somernets?) being dropped. This seems to fix the exact date of the change of supporters, which is apparently unknown to heralds; see T. Willement's Reyal Heraldry, p. 64 foll. (cp. p. 39 foll.), Lond. 1821, where the change is described but not stactly dated. The book is at present made up in one thick volume, in a beautiful (Elizabethan!) binding, and has on the outside the following coat of arms—five escallop shells argent, on a cross gules, on a shield or, with the motto 'Alta cernens non deficio.' The arms are said to be e of Bigod or Bygod of Seakelthorpe in Yorkshire, or perhaps may be those of Creasy. The motto I have not been able to identify. The book was given to the Bodleian in 1601, 'ex dono Johannis Fortescue militis, Reg. Ma<sup>u</sup> a Consiliis.' I have no conjecture to offer as to the manner in which it left the Royal Library.

* I have identified the five St. Germain MSS, used by Stephens, with the help of Le Long and M. Deliale, and have put together in Appendix I what I have been able to gather as to the hers, including the books used by Erasmus. Unfortunately my hopes have to a great extent an disappointed, notwithstanding the valuable assistance of many friends at home and abroad, songet whom I must specially name Messieurs Henry Omont and Ch. Rohler. May I beg the ip of all scholars, particularly librarians and bibliographers, into whose hands this book may me, to aid me in identifying the remainder of these precious volumes?

subscription on fol. 69 as to the twenty-four Canonical books makes it probable that Esdras III, IV, and Baruch never were contained in our MS. The two Wisdoms have certainly got out of place amongst the Hebrew Canon, but they had a higher position assigned to them by tradition than the rest of the Apocrypha, and, as we have seen, are mentioned distinctly as included in the volume (fol. 69). On the other hand, if Daniel and the Minor Prophets had been in the book when he used it, Stephens, who cites other St. Germain and St. Denys MSS. for them, would hardly have overlooked Ge. l. I am inclined therefore to conclude that those writings were torn out in his time, but that otherwise our Bible was complete 1.

The only objection to the statement of Le Long and the natural inference from the citations as to the general completeness of the book, arises from the notes about the lacunae on the lower margin of folios 8 B and 88 B already quoted (above, pp. vii. viii). A learned friend at Paris, M. Paul Meyer, was confident that they are in a hand earlier than the sixteenth century, and I should have agreed with him, but for the

The following note may help towards the identification of vol. i. of our MS., which is very possibly still in existence in some other library. The books of Daniel and the Minor Prophets would about fill three quires (say two quaternions and a quinion), and may have formed the concluding portion of vol. i, which would then have originally contained the Law and the Prophets. This is the case with Paris. Reg. 3563, now Lat. 45, which agrees with our G in thrusting the two Wisdoms into the Hebrew Canon. Volume ii. would then begin with Job and the Psalter, which under these circumstances must each of them have appeared in a double translation, according to the LXX and the Hebrew, an amount of matter just filling the eight quires A to H which are now lost. Or there might have been a single Job and a triple Psalter—but the former seems more likely. Such an arrangement is natural in a 'Pandectes' of so remarkable a kind as the book before us. The double translation of both is found for angance in Bodley Auct. E. infra 1. a (clim NE. F. 6, cp. Hody de Biblierum textibus, p. 663, col. 125), which agrees with our MS. in its arrangement of the books of the Old Testament, including the two Wisdoms (only putting Tobit before Judith), though it divides the volumes between Job and the Psalter. Dr. Westcott gives several instances of a double and triple Psalter Vulgate, p. 1608 foll.

The division of volumes at the end of the Prophets is not only natural in our MS., but is also most convenient in securing evenness of bulk. On the other hand, if the single quotation by Stephens from Ge. 1 in the last words of Bel and the Dragon is right, that looks like mutilation in the interior rather than at the end of a volume.

In speaking of the arrangement of books it is further worth noticing that the curious order in the New Testament (Gospels, Acts, Catholic Epistles, Apocalypse, Paul) is paralleled in two Oxford MSS. described by Hody, viz. Bodley NE. B. 22 = Auct. D. infra 2. 1, and St. John's College, Oxford, fol. 25 = no. 100 in Mr. Coxe's catalogue (Hody, cols. 129 and 133 at the end of the volume). See also Dr. C. R. Gregory's Prolegomena in 21. T. Tischendorfianum, p. 136 (not yet published). St. John's College has another Bible (no. 48) with the same order in the New Testament.

contrary exidence which appears to me overwhelming. Stephens, inverses a releas, could not change without a word of comment and advances a wholly new MSs, in the midst of Proverse, as Ge. 11, and then go back to our book again, in equal effects, when the factors was over. Nor is the hypothesis of an earlier collection used by like admissible, unless it were one of his own making some few years previously.

In fact I believe the notes to be of the middle of the sixteenth century, and another friend, who has kindly examined them excelling at my request, thinks that this is possible on paleographical grounds.

To continue the history of the MS. It is obvious that the incomposation of its readings, with the rest of Stephens' apparatus, by Hentenius and Fr. Lucas Brugensis, is no proof that the book was some seen by either of them. Lucas, however, noticed the value of some of the readings, and thus no doubt sept alive the resentation of the book.

The mutilation of the second volume must have taken place some after Stephens used it, but there is no evidence, at least that I am place of a to the disappearance of the first, till towards the lines which of the St. Germain's catalogue of 1677, 'Riblia some in querous factors are least to the restorie sive Herman mutilus, though the special socialist than the read of the Pastoria sive Herman mutilus, though the special socialist that make the first preserved. sided and hasty critic, was much struck with the absence of many of the customary prefaces, and with the subscriptions, which he quotes at length, and proposed to make our book the standard of the Hieronymian text, on account of its supposed freedom from interpolation. He does not however appear to have studied the text except in Stephens' citations. He knows nothing, for instance, of the peculiarity of St. Matthew, which Martianay discovered so soon after, nor of the variations in the other books which Sabatier has brought to light. After Simon the condition of the book is next mentioned in the first volume of the Benedictine St. Jerome (begun by Dom. Ant. Pouget and continued by Martianay), which appeared in 1693. It seems then to have been exactly in its present state. Besides the mutilations, the editors notice that the order of the books of the Old Testament is like that of Reg. 3563, 3564 (see below, p. 56), inasmuch as it separates the genuine Hebrew Canon from the uncanonical books, but interpolates Wisdom and Ecclesiasticus after Canticles 1. The book is also quoted as an authority in the notes upon the text of Proverbs, i. 10, iii. 14, xv. 28; 1 Chron. xi. 21; 2 Chron. xiii. 2; Neh. i. vii. 69, ix. 7; Esther x. 4 and ad fin. (quoting the subscription on fol. 69); Matt. xxiii. 14; John xxi. 22, 23 (where it reads sic and then si sic), and Prol. in Epist. Can.; and at the end of the Apocalypse, as a finale to his own work, Martianay adds the subscription Lege cum pace, etc., remarking that the New Testament ends with the Epistle to the Hebrews followed by a fragment of the Pastor.

Two years later, in 1695, Martianay published the first instalment of Old-Latin New Testament texts in a small duodecimo volume, now become very scarce<sup>3</sup>. This contained the Gospel according to St. Matthew from

This book consists of two parts, sometimes bound together: (1) Vulgata antiqua Latina et Itals versio Evangelii secundum Matthaeum e vetustissimis eruta monumentis, illustrata Prolegomenis ac notis, nuneque primum edita studio et labore D. Martianay's edition of the Corbey St. Matthew is in itself sufficiently inaccurate, as its recent editor, Mr. Belsheim, has shewn. His collation of our MS. is thus fundamentally vitiated and uncertain, but it fails also in many other places independently of the Corbey MS. I have therefore thought it fair to my readers to give a list of the most important of these defects in Appendix V at the end of this volume. He seems to have neglected transpositions of words almost systematically, and to have thought almost nothing of orthography. There are, for instance, eleven variations from the spelling of the MS. in the unique opening paragraph of the genealogy, which he prints at length, and apparently purposed to edit just as it stood in the original. I have therefore taken no account of mere orthography, but have given the transpositions for the sake of those readers who may wish to correct their editions of Martianay for working purposes.

To continue the history of our book. We have already seen the great expectations which Bentley had formed of its probable value for his edition in his letter to John Walker quoted on page v. Walker's own judgment upon it is contained in a letter dated Paris, Feb. 20th, 1720 (Bentley's Correspondence, p. 566), as follows, and will be read with interest as that of a very competent witness:-

'I shall finish to-morrow the collation of the Germ. Latum, and I have endeavoured to do it carefully; I find it to be the best of those I have met with, though it differs very often, especially in the Gospels, from all the others; there is not a tenth part of its Varieties marked in Rob. Stephens' edition; I do not collate the Gospel of St. Matthew, because it is in F. Martianay's book, which I hope you have received 1. If you would have that done too, I desire you would let me know.'

Had Bentley's work been brought to any completion, we should no doubt have heard more of the value of the MS., but after very elaborate preparations—continued more or less till the close of his life—it was suffered gradually to drop. His collections and many of Walker's happily still remain in the library of Trinity College, Cambridge, and are of great importance to students and would-be editors especially in determining the relations of MSS. to one another. Walker's collations are however superior in exactness to his own, and give a much better idea of the MSS, which he consulted 1.

This is not the place to consider at any length the question, which is otherwise a very interesting one, of the causes why Bentley's work was suffered to drop. I will only say that Professor Jebb's suggestion seems to me a very plausible one, that a further knowledge of the Vatican MS. made him feel the weakness of his fur amental principle of an exact verbal correspondence between the Greek and the Latin texts?. But it appears to me certain that another and much more potent cause prevented the work from being continued. In the proposals published in 1720 'the learned Mr. John Walker' is named as 'overseer and corrector of the press; and it is said, the issue of it, whether gain or loss, is equally to kill on him and the athor.' Professor Jebb has pointed out that he was still collating Greek MSS. in 732, but he went on at least up to 1735, and with as great diligence when he began in 1719. If therefore he had survived Bentley it is almost incredible that the latter would have left his materials to any one else, or that Walker should have made no attempt to use them-seeing what an immense amount of time and pains (the scholar's chief capital) he had embarked in the undertaking. There is no trace of a quarrel, and indeed some of Walker's latest work seems to be included in the collections at Cambridge. What Bentley actually did was to leave his papers to his nephew Richard, who did nothing with them and returned the money to the subscribers 4. The great critic himself was seized with a paralytic stroke in 1739 and died in 1742, having made his will May 21, 1741 .

The will is printed by Monk, L. c. 441-3. Neither of the Walkers are mentioned in it.

What became of his coadjutor? This question appears to have been left out of consideration by those who have discussed the subject of Bentley's New Testament, but I have discovered, after some enquiry, that he died Nov. 9, 1741, at the early age of forty-eight, being then Archdeacon of Hereford, Chancellor of St. David's, Dean and Rector of Bocking, Rector of St. Mary Aldermary in the City of London, and Chaplain to George II<sup>2</sup>. He thus prodeceased Bentley by about six months. His weak health is noticed in the Paris letters in Bentley's Correspondence. The dignities he attained sufficiently show the esteem in which he was held, and all that is known of him tends to prove that he was a man of very delightful character as well as real learning. Bentley it is said was in the habit of calling him "Clarissimus Walker."

Dr. John Walker was the son of Thomas Walker of Huddersfield, he and his contemporaries Richard and Samuel being all sons of different fathers. He was educated at Wakefield (Bentley's own school); was Craven Scholar 1712; took his B.A. at Trinity College, 1713; was elected Fellow (with Zachary Pearce and Leonard Trompson) in 1716; M.A. and ius Major in 1717; and Sublector Tertius in the same year. In 1719-20 he was working for Bentley at Paris, chiefly on Latin MSS. of the New Testament, but including Suctonius. According to Monk he returned from Paris in the latter year, when Bentley's Proposals were issued. From Bentley's correspondence we find that he went back to Paris and continued his work, but this time at Greek MSS. The winter of 1721-22 was spent in Brussels, as we learn from a remarkable letter to Archbishop Wake (printed below in Appendix IV), on account of the plague in Paris. He was then in the company of Lord Preston, perhaps as his chaplain. At this time he collated the Antwerp MS. of Arnobius (now apparently at Brussels) and the Corsendonk Greek New Testament, then with the Dominicans, and now in the Imperial Library at Vienna (cursive 3; see below, p. 53 note). He returned to Paris and remained there till 1723. At Lady Day, 1726, he received his last dividend as Fellow. His marriage took place shortly after Jan. 26, 1727-8. On April 25, 1728 he was made D.D. together with Richard Walker (Bentley's stanch Vice-Master) by Royal Commission, and was appointed Archdeacon of Hereford in Feb. 1728-9 by Abp. Wake (under some special arrangement with the Bp. of Hereford) being then the Abp's. domestic chaplain. In 1730 he became rector of St. Mary Aldermary. In 1732 he was still making collations in England, as appears by the note in the volume numbered Arch. Wake, Gr. 35, at Christ Church, which is a copy of the same book, and contains the variants of several of the same MSS., as B. 17, 34 at Trinity College, Cambridge. Arch. W. Gr. 18 has also two leaves of notes in his hand. A long list on a loose sheet of letter-paper in a later hand, which Dr. Ince recently found in the Wake archives at Christ Church, containing (as it seems) a record of Walker's work, proves that he had continued it till after 1735; for it embraces thirteen of Abp. Wake's MSS, which only reached England in that year. See Appendix III, and note 3, p. xxiv. The whole number of separate volumes described in it is sixty, and these be it remembered are all Greek.

The reader it is hoped will partion this digression on account of the of the subject, and the opportunity which it affords me of cating both Bentley and Walker from the suspicion of lightly taking and then as lightly dropping so important a task. Nevertheless at but think that it is discreditable to our country that their work ald have so thoroughly failed.

To return to our MS. Le Long's notice of it in 1723 comes next in before it was mutilated—a fact which he may have inferred from the readings cited on Stephens' pages, or have learnt from some other cource, such as tradition in the library. The latter I think at least le, as he gives several details about the MSS. of Stephens 1, which are not contained in any printed book with which I am acquainted. I am glad to have this opportunity of calling attention to the value of Le Long's list of MSS., which has been often overlooked by later scholars, owing to the fact that it has not been reprinted by Masch in his later and, in parts, completer edition. We have here a good instance of the fact which is well known to bibliographers, that few 'new and improved' editions entirely supersede the originals. In fact, any one making a list of Vulgate MSS could need the headlest the least the latest than the g a list of Vulgate MSS. could probably hardly do better than by starting with this chapter of Le Long.

The last scholars who seem to have used our MS. at first hand, for the text of the Bible, seem to have been the two learned Benedictines of he Congregation of St. Maur, Pierre Sabatier and Simon Morinot, one labours form at once a parallel and a contrast to those of our

His silence about the "Dionysianum oblongum" and 'latum' agrees with Valler's note, Paris, Feb. 20, 1720, describing his visit to St. Denys with Montfaucon: "Quired there for the two MSS, which Rob. Stophens made use of there, which, they tell may be seen either lost or taken from them in the Civil Wars of France which have happened his time' (Bentley's Correspondence, p. 567, Lend. 1842).

pair of English scholars. They had begun to prepare their edition of the ante-Hieronymian version as early as the year 1716, and already spoke of it by the name of 'Italica' or 'Itala,' which they had learnt from St. Augustine 1. Their intercourse by letter with Bentley and their personal kindness to Walker, in company with Montfaucon, Thuillier, De la Rue, and Leon Chevallier, is one of the pleasantest and not the least interesting pages in the literary history of the two countries. They were at first inclined to suspect Bentley's plan as likely to interfere with their own; but this suspicion was set at rest by Bentley's explanations and readiness to give help in return by a transcript of the Codex Bezae, seconded by the generous intervention of the great Montfaucon, and by Walker's amiable bearing and scholarly modesty<sup>2</sup>. Bentley rather gratuitously ran the risk of further offence by his characteristic attempt to turn the 'Versio Italica' into a 'Somnium merum,' by correcting the famous text of Augustine 'Itala caeteris praeseratur nam est verborum tenacior cum perspicuitate sententiae' into the tame and soiritless 'illa caeteris praeferatur quae,' etc.3 But this sally seems to have been taken in good part, and did not lead to any withdrawal of their assistance. Mopinot died very early in their partnership, in the year 1724, and Sabatier was obliged to leave Paris in 1727, on account of the Jansenist troubles, and retired to a sort of exile at Rheims. His work was consequently delayed, and he never saw it published, though he lived to superintend the printing of the first and the greater part of the second volume, before his death in March 1742. At last the book appeared under the patronage of the Duke of Orleans, and under the care of his brethren Ballard and the younger De la Rue, and with a preface by Clemencet. It bears the following title, Bibliorum sacrorum latinae versiones antiquae seu vetus italica . . . . opera et studio D. Petri Sabatier, O. S. B., e congregatione S. Mauri. 3 vols. folio, Remis, 1743-1749 4. It is needless to say that, notwithstanding some imperfections, it is a work of the greatest value. Had Bentley belonged to a religious order, or rather had our Colleges fulfilled the intentions of their foundation. his work, like Sabatier's, might have been completed by other hands. It is a melancholy reflexion for an Englishman. But probably there are no instances of such unworldly devotion to sacred literature and such brotherly union in study, in any society of learned men, as were exhibited by the Benedictines of the Congregation of St. Maur 1.

The following notes of the use made of our book by Sabatier may perhaps be useful to students of the old versions of the Bible. He does not seem to have known it when he edited the Chronicles (Paralipomena) and Esdras (Ezra and Nehemiah), which are very inadequately treated and have no MS. readings. It is first mentioned in the introduction to Tobit (i. p. 706), where he notes that it concludes with chap. xiii. verse 2 ('et non est qui effugiat manum eius'). It was used also in Judith (ib. p. 744), but apparently not in Esther. In the introduction to Proverbs Martianay's mention of it is quoted (ii. p. 195), but it does not seem to have been further employed in that book. It is cited in Wisdom x. 1 (where the part which is extant begins) and onwards, but another St. Germain MS. is quoted throughout the book, from which it is difficult or impossible to disentangle its readings. In the text of Sirach our MS. is quoted largely, and perhaps alone of the St. Germain MSS. Solomon's prayer, though mentioned in the Capitulatio, p. 422, taken from MS. Corb. I, is not printed as it ought to be at the end of xxix. Cp. De la Rue's Origen, vol. iv, Preface, p. 1, 1759, where the editor (the younger De la Rue) says that after Sabatier's death he was sent by his superiors to Rheims to continue the book (which the Duke of Orleans was very anxious to see finished), and spent six whole years upon it, from 1743-1749.

All three volumes bear the date 1743 on the title-page, but there is a note on the last page of the third, 'e prelo exiit hic towns anno 1749.' The book is perhaps more commonly found as resemble by Francis Didot at Paris with a new title-page dated 1751, but with the same note the last page.

1 See for example Herzog, Theel. Encycl. iz. 190-197, s. v. Mauriner.

This was apparently Sangerm. 14, mentioned in the notes to the preface to Sirach, p. 402. ote g. etc., afterwards numbered 84, and now 11940 in Delisle's catalogue. It contains Prov., L. Cant., Sap. Sol., Sap. Sirach. and Paralipomena, and is one of four volumes, making a uplete Old Testament of the 11th cent., now numbered 11938-41.

the book. In the introduction to the first book of Maccabees our MS. is praised highly, and the text is printed from it as far as it is extant, viz. to ch. xiv. 1.

In St. Matthew Sabatier naturally employed our MS. very largely, and sometimes more accurately than Martianay; e.g. he gives the doxology in vi. 13, which Martianay omits 1. In the body of the text he cites it usually as Sangerm. 1, whence Tischendorf appears to have taken the symbol g<sub>1</sub>, by which it is now commonly known. Sabatier's Sangerm. 2 (Tischendorf's g<sub>2</sub>) had at that time (as he tells us) no 'nota numerica,' but is now numbered Lat. 13169 in M. Delisle's inventory (cf. Sabatier, iii. p. xxv, middle of page)<sup>2</sup>. Both are quoted throughout the Gospels as well as in St. Matthew, but not in any other books of the New Testament.

Here strangely enough, to the best of my knowledge, ends the past history of the use of this MS. at first hand as far as the Bible is concerned. The fragment of Hermas was looked at by Herm. Zotenberg in 1869 for Hilgenfeld (see Gebhardt and Harnack, Hermae Pastor, p. xiv, in Patres Apostolici, Lips. 1877), but it does not seem to have been collated by him or others. The reader may wish for a few words with regard to my own work upon the book. I saw it and made notes of it first in the winter of 1881-2, and again in 1882-3; and on the occasion of the latter visit partly copied and partly collated the text of St. Matthew for this edition, and collated St. Mark and St. Luke with the help of Walker's previous work, leaving the remainder of the New Testament for another opportunity. On my return to England the remainder of St. Matthew was written out, with the help of a kind friend, from the collations which I had made, and then set up in type; and very confusing as regards our own.

2 It was numbered 1199 in the catalogue of 1735. The readings which M. Kohler has compared for me sufficiently prove the identification. Φt Ias (sic) Matt. i. 9; abimmatu ii. 16; et consurgens accepit, ib. 21. It is a tenth cent. MS. of 166 leaves of vellum, about 9 inches by 6, with Letter to Damasus, Prologue, Prefaces, Capitula, Canons and Capitulare Evangeliorum de circulo anni. It is a mixed text with many old readings.

was afterwards carefully revised for me by M. Ch. Kohler with the MS, itself. He was also good enough to revise in the same way the section relating to the contents. I believe that by the aid of his keen eye and minute patience a high degree of accuracy has been secured; but I know by experience that absolute correctness, if not unattainable, is hardly ever attained. In fact, in some cases the distinction of the first and second hands is likely always to remain a problem. However, I believe that inaccuracies which may still exist are of very slight moment, and not such as will affect the use of the text for critical purposes. I shall (it is unnecessary to say) be much obliged to any scholar who will point out real blunders or imperfections of this or any other kind.

& 6. Character of the text of St. Matthew. Before proceeding to discuss this point it will be desirable to state in what sense the terms 'Old-Latin' and 'Italian' and other cognate phrases are used. I have called this series 'Old-Latin Biblical texts,' meaning thereby that the books included in it are texts current before, or independent of, St. Jerome's revision of the New Testament, and re-translation of the Old at the end of the fourth century. Some scholars have adopted the term 'ante-Hieronymian,' practically in the same sense; but it appears awkward and cumbersome, and 'Old-Latin' is now in process of general adoption. Since the Council of Trent Hieronymian texts have usually been called 'Vulgate,' though the word was used in a different sense by St. Jerome 1, and even by Martianay 2. Old-Latin texts then, as distinguished from Vulgate, mean all early Latin versions of the Bible which are not Hieronymian, of whatever date the MSS. may be which contain them, or in whatever country they were current. They are divided by Dr. Hort* (whose authority is very weighty) into three groups: first, 'African,' agreeing generally with the quotations of Tertullian and Cyprian; econdly, 'European,' probably based on a distinct version or versions current in Western Europe, and especially in North Italy; and thirdly.

Westcott and Hort's Greek Testament, Introduction, pp. 78-84, Macmillan, 1881.

'Italian' (or 'Italia') agreeing to a great extent with the text which is found in many of St. Augustine's writings, and probably of the type which he refers to in his single laudatory notice (de doctrina Christiana, ii. 15). These last 'are evidently due,' says Dr. Hort (p. 79, § 110), 'to various revisions of the European text, made partly to bring it into accord with such Greek MSS. as chanced to be available, partly to give the Latinity a smoother and more customary aspect.'

To the first or African class he assigns the Palatine Gospels of Vienna (e), and the Bobbio Gospels of Turin (k), the latter of which I hope to re-edit in this series—ten palimpsest leaves of the Acts <sup>1</sup> (Paris, Lat. 6400 G=k), and two of the Apocalypse (same MS.).

In the European class he puts down ten Gospels, which are presumably the following: 1. Vercellensis (a), 2. Fragmenta Curiensia  $(a_2$  ed. Ranke), 3. Veronensis (b), 4. Colbertinus (c), 5. Corbeiensis Parisiensis (f) or  $f_2$ , Lat. 17225), 6. Claromontanus Vaticanus (h) ed. Mai), 7. Vindobonensis (i), 8. Saretianus or Sarzannensis (j), still unequived), 9. Sangallensis (n), and 10. Dublinensis (r), ed. T. K. Abbott). We are also fortunate in possessing in the Gigas Holmiensis, recently edited by J. Belsheim, complete 'European' texts of the Acts and Apocalypse (g) or (g)); with fragments of the Acts (g) at Milan—and (g). The Epistle of St. James in the Corbey MS. at St. Petersburg (see p. xxii. note 2) is also conjecturally assigned to this class.

In the Italias group Dr. Hort classes two MSS. of the Gospels, Brixianus (f) and Monacensis (q)—the latter to be edited, I hope, in this series. In the Catholic Epistles he conjecturally places with these the Frisingen fragments of the Epistles of 1 and 2 Peter and 1 John (q), and more decidedly the other Frisingen fragments of the Pauline Epistles, all of which were published by Ziegler  $(r_1 r_2)$ , as well as the Gottvicensis (fragg. Rom. Gal.  $r_3$ ) published by Ronsch.

It will be observed that our text, as well as several others usually classed as old Latin, such as Corbeiensis Petropolitanus ( $f_1$ ), Sangermanensis 2 ( $g_2$ =Paris Lat. 13169)<sup>2</sup>, Rhedigerianus (l) are omitted from this enumeration. Dr. Hort speaks rather cautiously of this class, but concludes that they are certainly in most cases and not improbably in all 'monuments of the process... by which old-Latin readings, chiefly European, but in a few cases African, found their way into texts fundamentally Hieronymic' (ib. p. 82; § 114). In other words, he inclines to regard all these as mixed texts, i. e. texts with a Vulgate base, into which Old-Latin readings have been introduced. He is not here considering the bilingual or Graeco-Latin texts which belong to a offerent class, nor does he express any opinion as to the 'British' texts, except so far as the Dublin r is included in his European class. But he probably would class these all as mixed.

Is our St. Matthew then based on a Vulgate text? This is a nice question, and one that I will not undertake to determine ex cathedra. My readers are probably aware that there is considerable variety of opinion on such points, and that Dr. Ziegler, for instance, speaks of Brixianus as 'mit Bestandtheilen der Vulgata untermischt,' while Drs. Westcott and Hort (with others) call it, as I believe rightly, 'Italian'.'

Without therefore presuming to dogmatize I would offer the following remarks: That there is a mixture of a certain kind, in parts at least of our MS., is clear from the emphatic words of the editor already noticed (fol. 69 above, pp. x, xiv). They can only mean that he took different classes of MSS. and made an eclectic text by excerpting now a piece from one and now a piece from another. That he supposed himself to be generally following St. Jerome is also clear from the same subscription and from that on fol. 187, while the fact that he gives the Eusebio-Ammonian sections and canons is in itself sufficient, I imagine, to prove the use of a Hieronymian MS. of some kind in the Gospels.

The process of mixture has also been here and there so careless that we have sometimes double renderings, sometimes inconsistencies and inequalities, on the very surface of the text. These 'conflations' are occasionally striking—though a common phenomenon in Old-Latin MSS. Thus the same Greek word is twice rendered in v. 11 (Beati estis cum nos odio habuerint homines, maledicent, et persequentur), and vi. 2

(in synagogis et in plateis, et in uicis). In xxv. 6 there is a twofold rendering (ecce sponsus est, uenit), representing a variation in the Greek text, and in iii. 5 there is a grammatical inequality arising from the mixture of two Latin texts (tunc exiebant ad eum ex Hierusolymis et omnis Iudaea, a combination of readings of Vercellensis and Brixianus).

Neither of these cases however necessarily implies the use of a Hieronymian MS. and the first pro tanto excludes it, inasmuch as St. Jerome there reads 'Beati estis cum maledizerint uobis et persecuti uos fuerint,' using a third phrase for the one Greek word.

In order therefore to ascertain the character of the text more decidedly it is necessary to compare it with the different types of text, Vulgate, Italian, and European, to which it has most general similarity. This I have done throughout a number of chapters in different parts of the book, and more thoroughly and minutely in the Fifth Chapter. The results of this comparison may be stated numerically.

In chapter v. there are forty-eight verses. In eight verses (3, 6, 8, 10, 26, 27, 35, 36) the three types of text coincide with G in the three representative MSS. which I compared with our book, viz. Amiatinus for the Vulgate, Brixianus for the Italian, and Veronensis (and once or twice Colbertinus) for the European. In the remaining forty verses there are at least seventy-six places in which G varies from one or other or all of the three <sup>1</sup>. These may be thus divided:—

Peculiar r	eading	s, in whi	ch G stan	ds alon	e .						18

It will be seen, then, that the possible Old-Latin element is extremely large, that is to say, about ninety-six per cent. (only three readings in seventy-five being distinctly Vulgate), while the distinctly Old-Latin element is about seventy-three per cent.; and the distinctly European element is far larger than either of the other two. The proportions probably vary in other chapters. In some, such as the first and the fourth, there are I believe no distinctly Vulgate readings, while in others there are more than here. But I think that if the whole book were examined the general result would be found the same, with probably a larger roportion of distinctly Italian readings than there happens to be in this chapter. I conclude from this examination that the basis of our book was not a Hieronymian text, but a mixture of the Italian and European texts, which was corrected occasionally by the Vulgate, but has a large peculiar element, perhaps drawn from several MSS.

I believe that I omitted to count one or two 'neutral' readings.

A few specimens of the distinctly Vulgate readings are enough to prove that our book was corrected from St. Jerome's text. Such are

- ii. 16. quoniam inlusus essel instead of quod delusus esset, brix.; quoniam delusus est, ueron. colb.

- xxiv. 42. omil 'duo in lecto (or lecto uno), unus assumetur et unus relinquetur' which is found in most O. L. texts.
- xxv. 14. the scribe began to write 'peregre proficiscens' (as in brix.), but erased the pe to agree with the Vulgate text.

- ib. 55. om. 'uidentes' (with corb. 1 and rhedig.) which is found in the mass of O. L. MSS. and is part of the Greek text. This is a striking proof of Vulgate influence.

xxviii. 3. sicut nix against uelut nix colb.; candida sicut nix uerc. uer. brix. corb. 1. 2 clar.

The Vulgate corrections however are not enough to prove a Vulgate base for our text. They bear but a small proportion to the mass which is of a distinctly Old-Latin type, and a very small one to the Old-Latin and neutral type combined. So much I think proved, but I have not been able to satisfy myself on a more difficult question.

It is very hard to estimate the amount and to ascertain the sources of the peculiar readings, found in neither Vulgate, European, or Italian MSS. The following are specimens of such readings with a few remarks upon their relations to other texts.

The most noticeable of these peculiarities is probably the opening paragraph in which the generations from Adam to Abraham are prefixed to the genealogy. They are arranged in the style of St. Matthew, except that Deus fecit Adam is naturally employed for Deus genuit Adam. This section is apparently unique. Martianay remarks about it that it must have been drawn up after St. Jerome, since it is based on his version of Genesis from the Hebrew and not on that taken from the LXX (Remarques, p. vi). It is curious however that it agrees neither with Genesis nor with S. Luke. The list coincides indeed with Genesis x. 24, against St. Luke, in omitting Cainan, son of Arphaxad, but the spelling Salath (for Sale) is found in neither source, while Ragau agrees with S. Luke against Reu of Genesis. The curious variations of spelling Mathusalem Matusala, Phalech Palech, and the remarkable confusion of j and g in 'Maleleel ienuit Gereth Fareth ienuit Enoch 's seem to show a process of mixture even in this peculiar section, and a ggest that it was the composition of our scribe, not a copy from any existing document.

It seems indeed as if the genealogy was treated with greater freedom than the rest of the text as being in some sense outside the Gospel. Many MSS., both British's and continental, make a new departure at 'Christi autem generatio sic erat' often with large and elaborate initials; and there is also an addition after verse 17 'Omnes itaque generationes ab Abraham usque ad aduentum Ihu Christi generationes sunt xlii' in some O. L. and Vulgate MSS.

In the ordinary genealogy we notice two remarkable omissions agreeing with the African MS. k. These are the words et Zara de Thamar (which however are added in the margin, by a second hand), and rex in verse 6, which is also omitted by g<sub>s</sub>, by Foroiuliensis and the Gospels of St. Martin of Tours. In i. 20 the reading 'apparuit Foseph in somnis dicens (in somnis Foseph g<sub>s</sub>) appears in Irenaeus iii. 9, but not I believe in other MSS.

In iv. 23, we have curans (with the Marmoutier Gospels, my E, and the Codex Bezae) for O. L. and Vulgate sanans, and ib. 24 fama for opinio. In chapter v I have already quoted one unique reading. Others which are rare and characteristic, if not always unique, are 19, qui enim (with Bigotianus) for qui ergo; 21, dictum est for dictum est antiquis; 24, aufer (offer Bigotianus) for offers or offeres; 25, adversarius trus for adversarius; 28, quod for quoniam or quia and concupiscendam (also S. Martin and Mac Regol) for concupiscendum; 30, quam quod totum for quam totum; 33, inrabis for peierabis or periurabis; 37, quod autem amplius est (his amplius, Mac Regol) for quod autem his abundantius est or something of the sort; 39, in maxillam truam dexteram for in dextera maxilla trua etc.; 42, ne avertas te ab eo for ne avertaris or ne avertaris te; 44, pro eis qui nos persecuntur et calumniantur nobis for some form of the participles; 46, habetis (with Corpus Oxon) for habebitis and haec for hoc; 47, et gentes for ethnici (vg), et gentiles (brix.), et ethnici (veron.). Some of these are trifling, but in nearly every case all who have studied the subject will agree that the scribe had MS. authority before him.

In viii. 2 the second hand has the strange gloss nomine Iairus after centurio, which I have found nowhere else.

In xiii. 50, fletus oculorum appears to be unique, and so does xix. 5 et benedixit for et dixit. The addition in xviii. 20, 'non enim sunt congregati in nomine meo inter quos ego non sum' appears to be found only in the Greek and Latin of the Codex Bezae (D and d).

There are also several striking omissions, not found generally either in European, Italian, or Vulgate MS., which are perhaps even more certain evidence of a critic's hand. The passage in xii. 31, about blasphemy against the Holy Spirit, can hardly be reckoned here, noticeable as it is, for it is absent also from uerc. rhedig. and for as well as seven Greek MSS.; but the following are more uncommon.

In xiv. 11, the clause 'puella autem adtullit matri suae' is omitted by the first hand and inserted in the lower margin. This omission is I believe unique, yet it can hardly be supposed accidental.

In x. 19, the words 'dabitur enim uobis in illa hora quid loquamini' are omitted with the African Bobbio MS. (k). Floriacensis (a lectionary quoted by Sabatier) and the first hand of Harl. 1775, as well as in twelve Greek MSS.

In xxii. 37, our MS. stands alone in giving only the two clauses 'in toto corde tua, et in tota anima tua' where the O. L. and Vulgate generally add 'et in (ex) tota mente tua,' Colb. having 'et in omni uirtute tua,' and Pal. something quite different and consisting of four clauses. It is possible that this may be an omission per homoeoteleuton, but not I think probable.

In xxiii. 35, the words 'fili Barachiae' are added by a later hand in a narrow space only calculated to hold six letters. Tischendorf only quotes three Greek MSS. as omitting these words, one of which is the first hand of the Codex Sinaiticus. Westcott and Hort quote besides Cod. Sin. at least four cursives, three of them lectionaries (Notes on Select Readings, p. 17). In the Gospel of the Nazarenes according to Jerome the words were replaced by 'Son of Joiada' (S. Hieron. ad loc.).

This reading of our MS. was not observed either by Martianay or Sabatier, yet it is one of the most important in the book.

In xxvii. 35, it omits the words 'ut impleretur quod dictum est per prophetam Diuizerunt sibi uestimenta mea et super uestem meam miserunt sortem' which are found with slight variations in many O. L. and Vulgate MSS, including Amiatinus, but are rightly omitted from the text. This is I believe one of the cases where the text of Amiatinus has been interpolated.

What the source or sources may be from which these readings are derived I have little means of judging. Besides African readings and some found only in the Codex Bezae, there are others which are unique as far as our present knowledge goes. The correspondence in peculiar readings with supposed Gallican texts, such as the Petersburg Corbey St. Matthew, and the Marmoutier and Tours Gospels, is hardly enough to point to a distinct Gallican recension, the great majority of the places in which they agree throughout the book being common to them with one or other of the European or Italian MSS. Bigotianus, a Vulgate MS., has many striking resemblances in small points, and so have some of the Irish texts. As for S. Germ. 2. (13,169) it is a distinctly mixed text, in which our MS. has possibly been used for a source. I hope that some light may be thrown upon these points by further study.

The orthography of our MS. is curious and, when the subject has been more thoroughly worked out, may perhaps lead to some conclusions as to the region where it was written. The confusion of a and u which appears on nearly every page, especially in terminations, points to an original probably in Merovingian characters, in which those letters were very like one another—as they are also in Lombard and Visigothic hands. It is just possible that Corb. 1 itself, which is written in a sort of Merovingian hand, may have been one of the sources of our MS., but I incline to doubt it, and to suppose that it is based on a similar book freer from Vulgate influence and itself resulting, as I have suggested, from a reixture of the European and Italian texts.

The following are some of the more striking peculiarities of spelling, not usually observed throughout but mixed up with the ordinary forms. In the vowels we have aedere, aepulari, Pharesaeus, aduliscens

(for adulescens, the usual form of good MSS.), uindo, dinarius, prumptus (usually).

A and u are, as we have said, constantly confused in terminations, and so are e and i, o and u. In fact the whole vowel system seems to have been strangely out of order, confusions of a and i (xv. 3 triditionem, xix. 9 fornacationis, xxiv. 31 illas) of a and e (iii. 11 quidam, viii. 22 virtutas, xiii. 12 debitur) and of i and u (ix. 23 tumiltuantem, xiii. 30 itraque, xviii. 29 cum seruis for cumseruus. xxiv. 31 uentus) not being uncommon, as well as strange misspellings, such as deobeo (for debeo),

The consonants do not call for a great deal of remark. Of the gutturals c is frequently confused with i before i, as in vi. 16 fatiem, fatio (very frequent) and on the other hand iii. II forcior, xxvi. 8 perdicio. G is confused, as we have seen, with j(i) in the opening paragraph, and we may add in i. 20 congugem. xii. 20 gugum. It also appears to have had a very slight sound between two vowels, being often omitted in tetii (ix. 21, 29, xiv. 35, xx. 34), and so in xxvii, 31 crucifierent, cp. xiv. 25 uilia for uigilia and dinus for dignus in Luke xii. 16. A similar approach to the laziness of modern pronunciation is observable in xii. 16 ditum for dictum, vii. 16 aude for aut de, xv. 28 repondens for respondens, xv. 27 mesa for mensa, xvi. 25 proter for propter, xxi. 16 fib for filio, xxii. 16 est for es, and xxv. 24 no for non. The forms angullus (for angelus), adtullit, fater for frater, quomo for quomodo, occiosus for otiosus, may also be noted as less common solecisms. The scribe was also especially careless in leaving out syllables, as antecebat for antecedebat, iustia for iustitia, genima for genimina, iniquitem for iniquitatem. He more rarely adds them as in Solomono, initiata.

More important and better known forms are absconsus (side by side with absconditus), thensaurus, etc. with thesaurus, etc., and nequa. The latter is not a mistake for nequam but an old indeclinable noun, which is found also in Vercellensis, Veronensis, Brixianus, and Corb. 1, and is acknowledged by Charisius in a passage which is generally wrongly quoted 1. The right text is (as emended by Cauchius from a MS.

or MSS.) 'Commune trium generum in a unum uenit nequa. Idenristud et singulari et plurali numero monoptoton est. Propter quod multum errant qui dicunt adiecta e littera nequae hominis propositum habere.'

§ 7. Note on punctuation. I will conclude with a few words on the punctuation of the MS. and on ancient punctuation in general. The subject has apparently received little attention from scholars, but M. Henry Omont promises some day to publish a dissertation on the subject, which will no doubt give a full and exact account of what can be concluded about it. A short conversation with him first introduced me to the elementary notions of the subject.

Latin punctuation is obviously founded on two signs, the comma and the point. But while the comma, with us, is used to mark off a short clause, and a point a long one, or a whole sentence, in MSS. (like the one before us and I believe in general) the reverse is the case. When our present system was introduced I have not yet observed.

In the punctuation of the ninth century the shortest stop (answering to our comma) is the low point (.), the Greek ἐποστιγμή. Next in length to it is the middle point, at the same height above the line as the centre, for instance, of the letter o (·), the μίση στιγμή. Slightly longer, and answering to our colon or semicolon, is the superior point (·) at the level of the top, for instance, of an o. This answers in form to the Greek τελεία στιγμή, which, however, was originally a full stop rather than a colon <sup>1</sup>.

In our MS, the distinction between the middle and the superior point can hardly have been observed: so that I have neglected it in printing.

The comma (,) appears to be of Latin origin, and answers to our period at the end of a simple sentence. It is usually placed, as in our modern printing, with its head on the line, but is sometimes found slightly above it.

The point and comma united answer to our full stop at the end of a paragraph, and the combination forms the longest pause in general use. It is found almost indifferently with low, middle, and superior points (., ., ;). Besides this we often find a combination of two or three points with a comma at the end of a paragraph (.; ; .;. etc.) in slightly varying positions. I do not think this is more than a matter of taste, just as we sometimes find words divided in inscriptions by one or by two or three points placed vertically.

Such I believe to have been the original punctuation of the book, though it is never quite easy to say how far such a thing proceeds absolutely from the first hand. Besides this system there are traces of another slightly different, in which the comma is represented by a line slightly inclining to the right, /, generally straight but sometimes a little curved, which sometimes stands alone, sometimes starts above or beside a point, .' or .'. This appears rarely after the third chapter, and was probably the work of a second hand, which was not sufficiently energetic to pursue the task. I only noticed one mark of interrogation (ii. 2) which is not very unlike the modern form.

So far seems pretty certain. But when we enquire for the origin of this system we pass into the region of theory. I venture to offer the following suggestion as a contribution to the question.

Originally the point was used ir inscriptions to divide words from one another, but when words were properly spaced it was unnecessary to put it between every word. It was only then used to mark where the end of a line should come, in writing out a passage in stichi of unequal length. The point in this way might either be used in a MS. in uncials, which it was desired to transcribe into stichi, or in a cursive MS. which was transcribed from stichi. The Bobbio St. Mark and St. Matthew at Turin, in uncials probably of the fifth century, is thus divided by points, with a space generally left where we should nowadays put a full stop, and a larger letter to mark the beginning of a pragraph. It is very carelessly done, but this seems to be the idea. The comma is a natural sign to mark the close of a sentence. It seems to have been originally a straight or slightly curved line | or ). It appears, I believe, not unfrequently in uncial MSS. more in the form of a poposite the centre of the letters.

Let us take an instance of a MS. in stichi, the Codex Amiatinus.

This is how the opening paragraph in St. John is written:—

IN PRINCIPIO ERAT UERBUM
ET UERBUM ERAT APUD DM
ET DS ERAT UERBUM
HOC ERAT IN PRINCIPIO APUD DM
OMNIA PER IPSUM FACTA SUNT
ET SINE IPSO FACTUM EST NIHIL
QUOD FACTUM EST

IN IPSO UITA ERAT
ET UITA ERAT LUX HOMINUM
ET LUX IN TENEBRIS LUCET
ET TENEBRAE EAM NON COM
PREHENDERUNT

FUIT HOMO MISSUS A DO
CUI NOMEN ERAT IOHANNES

This would be written out on my principle, putting low or superior points according to the sense:-

In principio erat uerbum et uerbum erat apud deum et deus erat uerbum, Hoc erat in principio apud deum, Omnia per ipsum facta sunt, Et sine ipso factum est nihil, Quod factum est in ipso uita erat, Et uita erat lux hominum, Et lux in tenebris lucet, Et tenebrae eam non comprehenderunt;

Fuit homo missus a deo . cui nomen erat Iohannes, etc.

To translate this into modern spelling it is only necessary to substitute a comma for every low point and a colon for every superior one, and a point for every comma and semicolon. It is clear that the scribe intended to connect 'Quod factum est' with 'in ipso uita erat,' as the largest number of early Latin (as well as Greek) MSS. do. Tischendorf and Tregelles, strange to say, both overlook this, or rather point the sentence wrongly.

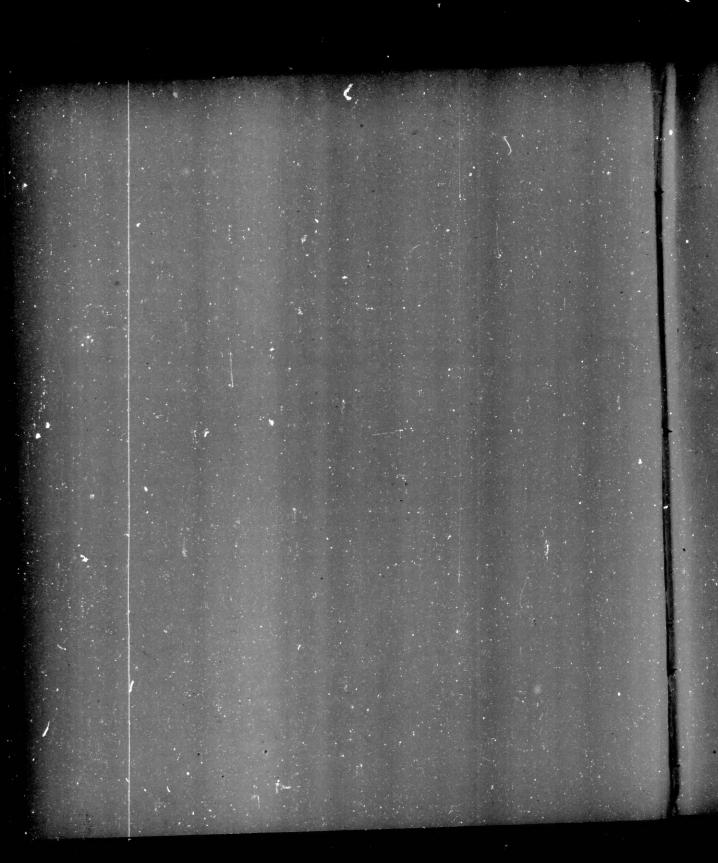

I have now to thank the many kind friends, new and old, in many places, at home and abroad, who have helped me in this book. It has cost me no little (though mostly very pleasant) labour, but I could have scarcely done anything without their assistance<sup>1</sup>. To name them all would be difficult, but I must specially thank those at Paris, and in particular Messieurs Léopold Delisle and Henry Omont, who have made me feel that the courtesy and learning of the Benedictines, so much appreciated by my predecessor John Walker, have descended to worthy representatives. May they have quieter days than Sabatier, and as generous hands to help them if they should need it; may their work be as useful as his, and may my smaller undertakings, by God's blessing, have a happier issue than that of the great Cambridge scholars of the last century.

APPENDIX I.

CODICES A ROBERTO STEPHANO (ET DESIDERIO ERASMO) IN EDITIONIBUS BIBLIORUM LATINORUM ADHIBITI.

In editione Bibliorum in folio Parisiis A.D. 1528 in praefatione ita scribit Stephanus:

'Cum anno moxxim huius urbis peruetustas Bibliothecas euolueremus eam maxime quae est apud D. Germanum a pratis; in manus tandem nostras peruenit exemplar quoddam mirae uetustatis, quod ut manu diligentissime scriptum, ita et a uiris doctis, ut uidere licet, accurate perlectum erat, et si quando librariorum uitio mendae irrepsissent, tanto studio castigatum, ut non credam aliud usquam pari. Eius nobis copiam libenter fecerunt qui illi Bibliothecae praeerant, a quibus et alterum simili prope diligentia scriptum mutuo accepimus in quo uideas accentus superscriptos dictionibus quod et imitati fuimus. Nec his quidem contenti euoluimus et Bibliothecam sancti Dionysii in qua unicum exemplar reperimus quod ad fidem praedictorum accederet.'

Ita Stephanus, sed in ipsa editione nullam lectionum uarietatem adnotat.

Horum codicum notitiam praebet Le Long Bibliotheca Sacra, tom. i. p. 255, Parisiis 1723. De Sangermanensibus enim ait 'Utrumque etiamnum anno 1720 extat in eadem Bibliotheca, prius num. 9, posterius num. 1 et 2 signatum.' Illud est ergo 'Germanum paruum,' hoc Walkeri v: de quibus uide infra. De tertio Sandionysiano ait Le Long, 'asseruatur nunc in Bibl. Regia Cod. 3562.' Sed hic certe fallitur Le Long; et, ut mihi uidetur, codicum numeros 3561 et 3562, ex causa nobis iam ignota, una cum Walkero, confudit et inuertit. Regius enim 3561, hodie 2, Dionysianus olim fuit (uide infra & Walkeri, p. 51), sed 3562 semper erat Fossatensis (uide infra MS. 7, p. 52). Hanc meam coniecturam, a uiro peritissimo Henrico Omont approbatam, confidenter legentibus commendo.

In editione quae A.D. 1532 in lucem prodiit de eisdem libris uerbis generalibus loquitur R. Stephanus et in marginibus aliquas lectiones adnotat, sed nulla codicum nomina vel sigla lectionibus adponit.

In editione autem pulcherrima et suarum optima, quae annis 1538-1540 apparuit, multo plura scribit ad hunc modum de signis a se adhibitis, quibus codices manuscriptos plus xvII, et editiones impressas tres notauit.

Ge. o., l., p., au., ar. Haec compendia significant S. Germani exemplar oblongum, latum, paruum, aureum, argenteum. Tot enim exemplaria suppeditarunt nobis coenobitae S. Germani, tantae uetustatis ut multis in locis literae oculos legentium fugerent. Illis autem exemplaribus differentiae causa, à forma ipsa corporis, indidimus nomina: uni oblongi quod chartis oblongis erat: alteri lati: tertio parui. Paruum illud intelligimus quod et exiguo corpore est, & literis scriptum minutioribus. quarto, aurei nomen imposuimus quòd literis aureis scriptum sit. hoc exemplar Euangelia Matthaei & Marci continet, & praeterea nihil. Quintum, argenteum appellauimus, quòd habeat Psalmos omnes argenteis literis, iisque fugientibus scriptos.

Di. o., I.: S. Dionysii oblongum et latum: quorum copiam nobis fecerunt sodales S. Dionysii. horum alterum, id est oblongum, Rex Carolus quintus cognomento Sapiens, mira diligentia scribi curauit ante annos ducentos. Non minore diligentia scriptum erat et latum.

V.: S. Victoris coenobitarum exemplaria scripta.

P.: Paruum exemplar in quo Euangelistarum scripta tantum leguntur: quod amici nobis utendum praebuerunt.

C.: Complutensis, siue Hispana editio.

T.: Taurinense exemplar, in quo aureis literis uerba Christi scripta sunt.

S.: Sorbonicum Correctorium. liber est quem à Sodalibus Sorbonicis commodato accepimus, in quo etiam antiquorum codicum, non paucorum, uariae lectiones annotatae sunt.

Au.: Aureum exemplar, totum & auro conuestitum, & aureis literis descriptum, quo olim usus est doctissimus Erasmus Roterodamus beneficio Margaritæ Caroli Cæsaris amitæ.

Paul.: Exemplar quod Iohannes Coletus, Paulinæ apud Londinum ecclesiæ decanus, exhibuit Erasmo, adeò priscis literarum typis, ut ei ab integro discenda esset legendi ratio & in noscitandis elementis fuerit repuerascendum.

Cor.: Codex belle insignitus, quem commodauit Erasmo collegium Corsendonkense.

Const.: Constantiense exemplar, quod exhibuit ei Constantiense collegium.

Don.: Donatianum exemplar, quod illi Brugis exhibuit collegium Diui Donatiani. Haec duo postrema, ferè in omnibus consentiunt cum nostro Germanico lato.

Su.: Suessionense exemplar, quo tantum in Psalterio usi sumus.

B. : Basileensis editio, minutis characteribus impressa ante quadraginta annos.

M.: Moguntinensis editio, excusa anno M.CCCC.LXII.

Imitati Origenem et Hieronymum obelo id est ueru: & asterisco, id est stellula, usi sumus. Obelus ostendit iugulandum esse et confodiendum quod neque in ueteribus Latinis codicibus neque in Hebraeis aut Graecis libris authenticis inuenitur. Asteriscus uerò in medium profert ex antiquis Latinis codicibus, & Hebraicis, ac Graecis quod in uulgata tralatione desyderatur.'

Hucusque R. Stephanus qui in U. T. usus est Dionysii oblongo et lato, Germanensibus oblongo, lato, paruo, et argenteo in Psalmis, Uictorianis (quot fuerint non liquet) et correctorio Sorbonico, itemque Suessionensi in Psalmis. Constantiense laudatur ad Iosue c. iii. 17 ubi habet 'latus' pro 'Iordanem,' sed uix alibi.

Per totum Nouum Testamentum his utitur: Germanis oblongo, lato, Dionysii lato et Uictorianis. In Euangeliis quoque Germano aureo, Dionysii oblongo, Corsendonkensi, Constantiensi, Donatiano, Aureo, Paruo, Taurinensi, Paulino. In Actibus Dionysii oblongo, et Constantiensi. In Epistolis Paulinis Dionysii oblongo, Constantiensi, Donatiano, et Paulino. In Catholicis Dionysii oblongo, Constantiensi et Donatiano.

Ex his codicibus Sangermanenses et correctorium Sorbonicum facile cognosci possunt: ceteri indagantium ingenio materiam non spernendam offerunt. Duo tantum adhuc post aliquantum laboris, adiuuantibus amicis, inueni.

Germ. oblongum: Par. Lat. 11504-5, Sangerm. 3, 4 postea 16, 17, Walkeri o(a) q. u. Biblia. Ad omnes fere libros adhibuit Stephanus.

Germ. latum: Par. Lat. 11553, Sangerm. 15 postea 86, Walkeri μ. q. u. Biblia tunc temporis (1540) perfecta aut paene perfecta. Citat enim Stephanus ad omnes libros exceptis Baruch, Danielo, Prophetis XII, Maccabeis et libris Esdrae I (III-IV, Tobia et Iudith ¹), ex quibus etiam hodie extant, Macc. I, Esdrae I, Tobias et Iudith. Uide prolegomena nostra.

Germ. paruum: Par. Lat. 11937, Sangerm. 9 postea 645, saec. ix, in 4°, membr, minusc, foll. 179, centim. 28 x 22, Bibliorum hodie uolumen 1. Continet Gen. xviii. 20, Sodom.rum 21 Gomorraeorum—fin. Ex. Leu. Numb. Deut. Ios. Iud. Ruth. Sam. Malachim. Is. Hierem. Hiezech. XII Proph. Iob. Psalterium ad fidelia facta sint nimis xcii. 5. Hi sunt libri U. T. ad quos Stephanus hoc codice usus est, sed citat etiam ad Maccab. I. ii. 41 et in N. T. ad Matt. v.-viii.: sed hic credo p. debet esse P., errore facili. Librum nuper descripsit L. Delisle Bibles de Théodulfe (istius enim recensionis est), p. 28 sqq. Paris. 1879. Germ. aureum: Par. Lat. 11955, Sangerm. 777 Walkeri a q. u., continet Euangelia Matthaei et Marci mutila.

Germ. argenteum: Par. Lat. 11947, Sangerm. 780 postea 681. Psalterium S. Germani saec. vi. (?) membr. unc. foll. 291, centim 27.4 x 22, Textum impressum habet Sabatier Bibl. sacr. uers. ant. ii. pp. 9-287. Facsimilia prae-

Dionysianis oblongo et lato asus est maxime Stephanus, lato ad omnes libros Biblicos, et oblongo ad omnes excepta Apocalypsi. Hi codices ubi sint adhuc me latet. Nam coniecturas, quibus fidebam, discrepantia lectionum subuertit. Neque hic ergo neque ille est codex Arsenalis 590 (olim 4 c), Biblia Caroli Quinti Celestinis dono data, nec magis Bib. Nat. Lat. 2, Biblia Caroli Calui, ab eodem Carolo Quinto ecclesiae S. Dionysii tradita, quos ambo mea gratia cum Stephanicis lectionibus partim contulit Carolus Kohler. Et hoc quidem mirandum est, cum ipsis Caroli Calui Bibliis usus quondam uideatur Stephanus in editione anni 1528 (vide supra p. 47). Scribit Henricus Omont multos codices Dionysianos in Uaticana nunc asseruari et hos fortasse eo numero inesse. Confer etiam Epistolam Iohannis Walkeri, Parisiis Feb. 20 A.D. 1720 datam; cui, cum ipse codices R. Stephani Dionysianos, Montefalconio comite, quaereret, dictum est libros istos bellis ciuilibus aut perditos aut ablatos (uide R. Bentley's Correspondence, p. 567, Lond. 1842, et supra p. xxvi, not. 1).

Uictoriani codices hodie asseruantur in Bib. Nat. Lat. 14232-15175: ex quibus unus tantum inter Biblicos ad saeculum nonum attingit. Hic est 14407 Euangelia. Alter Euangeliorum, 14782, saeculi undecimi est. Plura ex Bibliis saeculis xi-xiii attribuuntur: uide 14232 seqq., 14239, 14395 seqq., 14770 seqq. In tanta multitudine codices Stephanici uix distinguuntur. Confer Le Long l. c. pp. 239-40. Biblia Reginae Blanchae circa A.D. 1240, olim no.

870, hodie sunt Lat. 14307.

Taurinense exemplar dicitur a Le Long, i. p. 257 E, 'Ebroicense S. Taurini.' Sed inter Ebroicenses hodiernos, quorum catalogum confecit Henricus Omont, ab Ulysse Robert impressum, talis liber inueniri non potest. Neque ille qui solus, ex libris manuscriptis mihi cognitis, uerba Christi litteris aureis exhibet, codex scilicet Euangeliorum Parisiensis Lat. 257 saec. ix, aut Ebroicensis fuisse uidetur aut lectionibus satis concordat. De Lat. 257, nihil constat nisi quod sub Francisco primo bibliothecae Regiae accesserit, et anno 1538 compactus fuerit, ut ex Henrico Omont compertum habeo.

Sorbonicum correctorium bene notum est. Hodie est Paris Lat. 15554 saec. xiii., foliis 256, lineis in unaquaque pagina 36. Uide Samuel Berger Des Essais qui ont été faits à Paris an xiii siècle pour corriger le texte de la Vulgate, Lausanne, 1883.

Suessionense exemplar quid fuerit nescio, sed uel ecclesiae Cathedralis uel S. Medardi crediderim. Uix potest esse codex Bibliothecae Suessionensis quae nunc est no. 97, olim Praemonstratensis, saec. xii, qui continet Psalterium et Breuiarium Praemonstratense. Cf. Fleury Les MSS. à Miniatures de la Bibliothèque de Soissons, Paris, 1865. Sunt et alia Psalteria numeris 72, 73, 100. Editiones, praeter Moguntinensem anni 1462, fuerunt Basileensis Frobenii, in 8°, charactere Gothico, 1495, et polyglotta Complutensis 1514-1517.

Quae sequuntur, Aureum, Paulinum, Corsendonkense, Constantiense, Donatianum, ex Erasmi in Nouum Testamentum Annotationibus solum cognouisse uidetur Stephanus. Nam ipsis Erasmi uocibus utitur ex Praefatione in annotationes sed non accuratissime relatis. De Paulinis enim 'duobus' loquitur Desiderius et de Donatianis 'aliquot:' Constantienses item duos uel tres fuisse certum est. Uide hanc Erasmi praefationem in editione Clerici tom. vi, Lugd.

Bat. 1705 post Capita Argumentorum contra morosos, etc.

Aureum ex nota Erasmi ad Matt. i. 20 'in aulica bibliotheca Mechliniae' tunc temporis fuit. Extat hodie inter thesauros palatii Escurialensis, sine nota numerica, sub uitro expositum in magna aula bibliothecae principalis, ut me monet Iohannes Facundus de Riaño, Instructionis publicae Director generalis in Hispania, qui in hoc codice describendo amicissime me adiuuit. Codex est saec. xi in folio membr., litteris aureis, foll. 168 + 2, centim. 50 x 33 (de la Peña 52 x 35), binis columnis. Continet illuminationes uarias et inscriptiones, de quibus uide Iosephum Mariam Escudero de la Peña in Museo Español de Antiguedades, Fortanet, Madrid 1875, qui et facsimile praebet ex folio 3 recto ubi depingitur B. U. M. inter Heinricum regem et Agnetem reginam. Sequuntur Euangelia quattuor (inter quos primum est sec. Lucan) cum praeff., can. tabb., proll., et euangelistarum figuris et symbolis.

Scriptus fuit codex ut uidetur Spirae ad Rhenum iussu imperatoris Conradi († 1039) et completus temporibus filii eius Henrici II ante annum 1050. Postea dicitur fuisse (teste G. Haenel) Matthiae Coruini Hungariae regis, sed ante uastationem a Turcis Budae effectam A.D. 1526 in manus Margaretae imperatoris Maximiliani filiae uidetur cessisse; deinde Mariae Hungariae reginae, postea regis Philippi II peculium fuit, qui post annum 1575 bibliothecae Escurialensi tradidit. Praeter dissertationem supra citatam uide de hoc libro Cl. Clementis accuratam descriptionem Regiae Bibliothecae S. Laurentii Escurialis pag. 533, Lugd. Bat. 1635, Le Long l. c. i. p. 245 seq., et G. Paulinos codices in incendio magno A.D. 1561 uel postea maximo A.D. 1666, periisse credibile est. Fallitur enim Le Long, i. p. 246 C, D, qui credat libros istos in bibliotheca Academica Cantabrigiensi conseruari 1. Euangeliorum

codex, teste Erasmo, 'uetustissimus' fuit (Matt. i. 18, iv. 10), et 'omnium' forsan quos habuit 'uetustissimus' (ad Ioh. xiv. 9). Uidetur etiam satis paruum uolumen fuisse. Ait enim ad Ioh. xxi. 29 (p. 419 c, ed. Clerici 1705)
'nec dubito quin itidem scriptum fuerit in Paulino codice, nisi quod extrema pagella nos destituerat.' His indiciis ductus suspicabar Coleti librum eundem esse cum bene noto illo Harleiano 1775 Musei Britannici (olim Regio Parisiensi 4582) qui et uetustissimus est et lectionibus simillimus et hac 'pagella' mutilus est. Sed nec difficilis lectu est, nec lectiones omnibus locis (unoque insigni) concordant; itaque coniecturam hanc meam falsam esse credo¹.
Confer Matt. vii. 14, Luc. xi. 8, xii. 42 et forsan Ioh. vii. 29, ubi discrepantia lectionis est. Ceteris enim locis consentit. Codex alter citatur ad Epistolas Paulinas e. g. 1 Cor. vii. 10, Gal. iii. 1, 2 Thess. i. 6. Qui 'prisci litterarum typi' fuerint nescio; sed Hibernicos uel Saxonicos crediderim potius quam Merouingicos, Uisigothicos aut Langobardos.

Textus uarii euangeliorum recensentur in inuentorio Radulphi de Baldock A.D. 1295, uide Dugdale Hist. Eccl. Cath. S. Pauli ed. Ellis p. 313 Lond. 1818 et cf. ib. p. 400—monente Gul. Sparrow Simpson S. T. P., bibliothecario S. Pauli, Constantiense Collegium credo fuisse capitulum ecclesiae cathedralis Constantiae Helueticae. Ex codicibus hoc nomine designatis unus 'Euangelicus' dicitur ad Ioh. xxi. 22 'qui ob uetustatis miraculum seruatur in bibliotheca Collegii Constantiensis cuius inspiciendi copiam nobis fecit uir candidissimi pectoris Ioannes Botzemus eius sodalitii canonicus.' In epistolis duos citat unum uetustiorem alterum recentiorem: confer ad Gal. iii. 1, Col. i. 28, 1 Joh. v. 7 (p. 1080 ed. Clerici). Horum codicum notitiam praebet catalogus Thesauri ecclesiae Constantiensis A. D. 1343, qui in Serapeo Lipsiensi uol. i. pp. 49-58

Meghen, Euangeliorum Matthaei et Marci, perperam describitur quasi idem sit cum Paulinis Erasmi. Uide Catalogum Bibliothecae Cantabrigiensis recentiorem sub titulo Dd. 7. 3. Constat duplici translatione, una Hieronymiana, quae ex Paulino codice partim deriuari poterat, et altera Erasmiana. Huius libri complementum extat in Museo Britannico Reg. 1 E v ab eodem Petro Meghen descriptum continens Lucan et Iohannem cum epistolis Paulinis et Catholicis. Confer etiam 1 D xi-xv, qui numeri designant Paulinas epistolas ab eodem Scriptore exaratas. Hi libri etiam hac causa nominandi erant quod ostendant Erasmi translationem aliquot annis ante editum Nouum Testamentum compositam fuisse. Nominatur enim diserte in codice 1 E v in argumentis ad Lucan et libros sequentes, e.g. 'Euang. prohemium beati Luca per D. Erasmum Roterodamum'; 'Inc. ad Galatas argumentum per D. Eras. Rot.'—ut litteris uiri docti Georgii F. Warner compertum habeo.

Operae pretium est adicere nullum alium codice. Musei Britannici tam prope ad indolem Paulini accedere, monente eodem G. F. Warner, qui libros biblicos antiquos omnes ibidem extantes una cum bibliothecario egregio E. M. Thompson, sedulo examinauit.

Lipsiae 1840 impressus fuit. Ibi notantur (p. 52) 'textus quatuor Ewangelistarum, de litera antiqua et sunt duo uolumina. Item est ibi alius textus quatuor Ewangeliorum in uno uolumine de litera antiqua.' Alius item est 'de litera recenti.' Tres uero Epistolarum Pauli glossatarum. 'Item Epistole pauli . in antiquo uolumine . quasi uetustate consumpto. Item Epistole canonice et actus apostolorum cum glosis in uno uolumine. Item epistole Pauli omnes . preterquam ad hebreos . cum comento Ieronimi.' Omnes periisse uidentur, ut scribit mihi uir doctissimus Gulielmus Brambach bibliothecae Carlsruhensi praepositus, qui et de Serapei catalogo mentionem fecit. Nullus certe (quod sperabam) sub illius cura asseruatur.

Corsendonkense Collegium prioratus Augustinianorum fuit prope Turnhout in Brabantia, ab Antuerpia orientem uersus: confer Erasmum ad Ioh. i. 15<sup>1</sup>. Codex Corsendonkensis Latinus Euangeliorum extat hodie in Bibliotheca Regia Berolinensi MS. theolog. lat. quarto 4, saeculi noni uel decimi, membr. minusc. foll. 164. centim. 25 × 20, columnis in pagina unaquaque singulis.

Continet Nouum opus etc. Plures fuisse etc. Eusebius Carpiano etc. Hieronimus Damaso papae. sciendum . . . repperies. Quatuor euangelia cum proll., capp. tabb., can. tabb., et euangelistarum symbolis. Ad calcem sequitur Capitulare euangeliorum de circulo anni . (f. 151 B-163 B). Item lectiones euangeliorum de diuersis causis (f. 163 B-164 B), et lectio ex 1 Cor. v. 7-8 manu recentiori (f. 164 B). Erasmus tribus in locis haec notauit. Fol. 1 'Erasmus. Utinam Castigator quisquis fuit, continuisset manum suam in hoc codice. Nam is multa deprauauit. Hoc exemplari sum usus in editione secunda noui testamenti . Quamobrem moneo ut seruetur.' Huius codicis notitiam primam debui Henrico Omont qui librum mihi indicauit Fr. Wilken Geschichte der königlichen Bibliothek zu Berlin, p. 222, Berlin, 1828, 8vo, in quo iste liber dicitur ab Erasmo in editione secunda usurpatus. Ipse cum conicerem librum Berolinensem eundem esse cum Corsendonkensi Erasmiano (quamuis nihil de sua origine prae se ferret), eam coniecturam ueram esse probauit amicissimus I. Zupitza, Professor Berolinensis, lectiones aliquot satis peculiares cum ipso codice conferendo et inuestigando. Idem etiam codicis descriptionem eadem fere forma qua supra habetur, humanissime concinnauit.

'Ibi reperimus Euangeliorum codices complures, quorum aliquot inscriptione etiam testabantur se descriptos ante annos octingentos. Unum in quo Testamentum nouum totum habebatur: alterum omnium uetustissimum et usu tritissimum, sed mutilum et accisum in quo nihil erat noui Testamenti praeter Epistolam Pauli ad Romanos, Epistolas Iacobi, Petri, Ioannis et Iudae. Horum nobis copia facta est per . . . Marcum Laurinum, eius Collegii decanum.' Item ad Matt. i. 18 loquitur de euangeliorum 'quatuor uetustissimis exemplaribus, quae urbis praebuit Collegium diui Donatiani Brugis.' Huius bibliothecae catalogum exhibet Sanderus l. c. pp. 151, seqq. Sed etiam isto tempore codices Erasmiani uix apparebant. Aliquot ex libris Donatianis nunc seruantur in Bibliotheca Brugensi: uide P. J. Laude Catalogue des MSS. de Bruges, Bruges, 1859, pp. 1 seqq. Codices 1, 4, 6 continent nouum Testamentum uel totum uel partes, sed nullum est quod saeculum duodecimum anteeat.

CODICES LATINI QUOS BENTLEI CAUSA PARISIIS CONTULIT
I. WALKER<sup>1</sup> A.D. 1719-20.

Omnes Parisiis in Bibliotheca Nationali hodie conservantur. Walker contulit  $a, \gamma, o(1), \pi, \phi$ , totos; ceteros tantum ex parte ut infra notatur.

APPENDIX III.

CODICES GRAECI AB EODEM I. WALKERO COLLATI.

In July, 1883, Dr. W. Ince, Regius Professor of Divinity, in searching the cupboards of the Wake Archives at Christ Church, found two pieces of paper folded together, the outer a half-sheet of foolscap (A), the inner a sheet of letter paper with gilt edges (B), in different hands, but neither of them Walker's. A may possibly be in Dr. Thomas Mangey's hand; B is more clerklike.

A is endorsed 'List of Dr. Walker's Collations of Manuscripts.' Inside is a list of four volumes:—

- 'Gospels 11 Vol: Wetstein edition collated with the Archbishop's Manuscripts with the Notitia in 4 pages in the beginning 2 pages at the latter end. duodecimo,' [Probably Tr. Coll. B. 17. 44, 45.]
- '2 Volumes Wetstein Collation of manuscripts from Paris by the order of Dr. Bentley. duodec:' [Probably Tr. Coll. B. 17. 42, 43].
- 'I Vol. Q: Collations with 7 pages of Notitiae from different Manuscripts besides the Archbishops.' [Probably Tr. Coll. B. 17. 34.]
- 'Index Librorum Manuscriptorum Graecorum et Versionum antiquarum pr. Jos. Hallet', with some but very few observations of Dr. Walker.'

Sheet B contains a list of sixty separate volumes, many of which I have not had leisure to identify; but from the evident coincidence of more than twenty of them with books known to have been collated by Walker, I conclude that it is a list of his work, collected chiefly, if not entirely, from the volumes preserved at Trinity College. The Roman numerals appear to be merely those of the writer's own arrangement. I conjecture that he was thinking of carrying on the work himself and wished to simplify Walker's notation. The latter, strangely enough, used the same symbols for wholly different MSS. when collated in different books—a mistake also made by Bentley. I must leave further enquiry into this subject to students specially interested in the Greek text.

APPENDIX IV.

NOTES ON THE LIFE OF DR. JOHN WALKER, FROM WILLIAM COLE'S MS. COLLECTIONS, VOL. XXXII (B.M. ADD. 5833 PLUT. CLXXXI F. FOL. 115 B AND 116).

[In the original most of the substantives are underlined.]

Dr. Walker married one of the natural daughters of Sheffeild, Duke of Buckingham<sup>1</sup>, another of them Professor Hunt of Oxford, and a 3d Mr. Cox of Berkshire. Mrs. Walker was of a violent and turbulent temper; she lived some time at Bedford and now at Yarmouth [Oct. 26, 1762], and has one son a supercargo or in office in the East India trade, another a fellow of a College in Cambridge<sup>3</sup>, a third an officer in Germany, who is married and has children; and a fourth a student in the Temple, but has lately taken orders and preferred by my Lord Maynard. Mrs. Walker had £6000 for her fortune<sup>3</sup>, and after the Death of the Doctor she remarried to one Mr. Griffiths of Wales, and a Counseller of Law, with whom she soon quarrelled and left him; but desided at Bedford to go by the name of Walker, whom she professed much to esteem. She has a daughter well-educated and a fine young woman.

When Dr. Bentley published his proposals about 1716 for printing an edition of the New Testament, he tells the Public in his Proposals that 'the

* His letter to Archbishop Wake was dated April 1716. His proposals were not published till 1720.

&lt;sup>1</sup> More convertly Sheffield, Duke of the county of Buckingham or of Buckinghamshire, the poet, soldier, and statesman, whose remarkable epitaph, written by himself, ending 'Ens entium miserere mei,' is in Henry VIIths Chapel in Westminster Abbey. He died Feb. 24, 1720, See Stanley's Memorials of Westminster pp. 227-231, ed. 1882.

Stanley's Memorials of Westminster pp. 227-231, ed. 1882.

My brother tells me that this must be Henry Walker of King's, B.A. 1757, M.A. 1760.

From his will (at Somerset House) dated May 29, 1741, and proved at London Nov. 21 of same year, in which his widow is left executrix, and the Hon. Charles Maynard and Charles Sheffield executors, this appears to be substantially correct. The main object of this will is to provide £1500 apiece to his children. No mention is made of the Greek Testament papers, which were probably sent before his death to Dr. Bentley. The papers mentioned are collections for an edition of Arnobius, left to Dr. Ri. Mead, see p. 66 note, and matters relating to the Deanery of Bocking, St. Magy Aldermary and the Chancellorship of St. David's.

overseer and corrector of the Press will be the learned Mr. John Walker of Trinity College in Cambridge, who with great accurateness has collated many MSS. at Paris for the present edition, and the issue of it, whether gain or loss, is equally to fall on him and the author.'—Biogr. Brit. Bentley.

Dr. John Walker's Epilaph 1.

The following Epitaph was given me with many other loose papers, wrote in the hand of my worthy friend Dr. Zachary Grey, Rector of Houghton Conquest in Bedfordshire, and Vicar of St. Peter's and St. Giles' Churches in Cambridge, by the said Dr. Grey, who has added this under it, 'I believe this is a very just Character. He was Fellow of Trinity College, a favourite of Dr. Bentley's, and distinguished by the name of Clarissimus Walker.'

An Epitaph drawn up by Mrs. Walker for her husband Dr. Walker.

UNDER THIS STONE LIES THE BODY OF

JOHN WALKER, D.D.,

ARCHDEACON OF HEREFORD, CHANCELLOR OF ST. DAVID'S, DEAN AND RECTOR OF BOCKING, RECTOR OF ST. MARY ALDERMARY, AND CHAPLAIN

TO HIS MAJESTY.

WHOSE UNCOMMON LEARNING AND SWEETNESS
OF TEMPER, JOINED TO ALL OTHER CHRISTIAN
PERFECTIONS, AND ACCOMPANIED WITH A PLEASING
FORM OF BODY, JUSTLY RENDRED HIM
THE DELIGHT AND ORNAMENT OF MANKIND.

DIAD NOVEMBER 9, 1741, AGED 48, UNIVERSALLY REGRETTED BY THE INGENIOUS, THE GOOD, AND THE POLITE.

HE MARRIED MRS. CHARLOTTE SHEFFEILD BY WHOM HE HAD SIX SONS AND FOUR DAUGHTERS; SIX OF THEM
NOW LIVING TO DEPLORE WITH THEIR MOTHER THE GREATEST LOSS.
TWO OF HIS DAUGHTERS, HARRIOT AND CHARLOTTE, LIE

BURIED HERE.

Dr. Walker was installed Archdeacon of Hereford Feb. 20, 1728.

<sup>1</sup> This epitaph is in the Chaucel of Bocking Church in Essex, as I learn by the kindness of the present Dean. The arms on the seal attached to Dr. Walker's will are as follows:—gules, a chevron azure between three crescents, impaling argent, a chevron gules between three garbs within a bordure compony azure and of the first. The latter are the arms of Sheffield with a slight difference.

AN UNPUBLISHED LETTER OF JOHN WALKER'S TO ABP. WAKE, NOW AT CHRIST CHURCH, OXFORD (ARCH. WAKE, EPIST. VOL. 22).

BRUSSELLS, Nov. 24, 1721.

My Lord,

I have taken the Liberty of enclosing to your Grace the Contents of a large MS. Volume of Tracts relating to University and Ecclesiastical Affairs: several of which have not, that I can find, ever been published; which I have met with in a Parcel of MSS. that I lately purchas'd. If your Grace meets with any thing that you like in That or the other Volume which relates to the Bishoprick of Liege I will take the first Opportunity of sending them over; and shall be extremely glad if I can in anything serve Your Grace more successfully, than I have been able to do thus far, in my Enquirys after Medals. The Continuance and even spreading of the Plague in France has prevented my L4. Preston from spending this winter at Paris, and determined him to this place; and I have begun for some time to make use of the opportunity to examine into the Librarys of this Country. They contain very few Greek or Classical MSS.; but as many, and as good ones of the Latin Fathers, as I have seen anywhere. I have bought lately 15 or 16 MS. Volumes, most of them old ones, amongst which there is a Latin Copy of the Gospels, and a Comment upon some of St. Paul's Epistles, each of them above 800 years old. But the greatest Curiosity that I have met with in this way is a very old MS. of Arnobius and Minucius Felix; of which Authors especially of the latter, Learned Men have allways thought that there was only one MS. in the world 1, which is lodged in the

¹ Any second MS. of these authors was unknown to C. Halm when he edited Minucius in 1867. But a Brussels MS. (see Hanel Cat. des MSS. p. 764, 1830, who assigns it to the 1867. But a Brussels MS. (see Hanel Cat. des MSS. p. 764, 1830, who assigns it to the 1867 to the 1867. The 1867 to the 1867

It is clear that Walker had made large collections for an edition of Arnobius, which should be scarched for. In his will he says, 'Also I give and bequeath to Dr. Richard Mead [the eminent physician who died 1754] all my editions of Arnobius with the two quarto paper books of my notes upon that author and such loose papers as belong to them.' I have not come across any of these except the copy belonging to Prof. J. E. B. Mayor, mentioned on p. xxvi, note. Besides collations of the Antwerp MS., which he calls a, and the Paris Reg. 3975, now Lat. 1661, which he calls b, this volume contains many corrections and conjectural emendations, collected

Library of the King of France, and which I have often seen and examin'd there. Dr. Davies gives this Account in his Preface, and Rigaltius in his Notes. I have with some difficulty got the Liberty of Collating this MS. which I doubt not will contribute something towards the illustrating those two Writers. I have at last found a good part of the MSS. that were us'd by Lucas Brugensis; two of them of the Epistles are so old, that I design to Collate them for Dr. Bentley's Edition of the New Testament; which I hope will soon be ready to be sent to the Press. My Ld. Preston has received great Benefit by the Spa waters the last Season, tho' it was but an indifferent one; He desires me to present his services and to beg your Graces Blessing. I beg that your Grace wou'd accept my Thanks for the Honor you have done me and the Goodness you express for me in your Letter, and give me leave to subscribe myself, with the greatest Respect,

Your Graces

Most obedient and most humble Servant,

J. WALKER.

I desire that your Grace wou'd direct to me, Chez Ruminy, proche l'Eglise St. Jean à Bruxelles.

and original. The latter show him an apt pupil of Bentley, and are well worth attention. Some anticipate modern corrections, accepted by Reifferscheid, but others are still new and often felicitous. I will mention two. In iii. 19, in talking of God, Arnobius says, according to the MSS, 'quis enim deum dixerit fortem constantem frugi sapientem? quis probum, quis sobrium, quis immo aliquis nosse, quis intellegere, etc.?' Reifferscheid follows Sabaeus in reading immo aliquid, but Walker suggests the omission of the words immo aliquis, as the marginal gloss of an objector, who thought that some people might well say 'deum nosse.' In vii. 44 ad fin. he reads it reptans, which seems to be more like the MS. than the simple reptans accepted by Reifferscheid. The collation of the Paris MS. was made after the Antwerp one, and he then saw that the latter was only a copy of the former ('\delta\) notat MS. Cod. Membr. in 4° Bibliothecae Regiae Paris. Num. 3975. 800 ann. ex quo ille alter descriptus est'). He judged the Antwerp MS. however to be of the tenth or eleventh century (habet, ut mihi uidetur, ultra 700 ann.).

ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS

OLD-LATIN BIBLICAL TEXTS, No. I (g1).

THE reader is requested to correct the following mistakes. For those in the text I am indebted to M. Samuel Berger, who has been good enough to collate afresh the whole amount of matter reprinted from the MS., both in the Introduction and the body of the work. M. Berger has also called attention to some interesting marginalia attached to 185 out of the 316 paragraphs into which the Gospel according to St. John is divided, written in barbarous Latin and having no relation to the text. They are in fact, instances of what is called Sortes Sanctorum, on which he refers to Ducange, s. v., and Chabaneau Rev. des langues romanes, 3d series t. iv. pp. 157 and 264, 1880. They are such sentences as Perfectum opus; Insperata causa perficitur; Quod uerum est dicito; Si mentiris arguent te; Gloria magna; Pro manifestatione; De iuditio quod uerum est si dixeris, libens eris; Ad peregrinatione itineris uenies-which we may compare with the old classical sortes: see Corp. Inscr. Lat. I. nos. 1438-1454 and my Fragments and Specimens of Early Latin, p. 241 foll., Oxford, 1874. Mr. G. M. Youngman copied all these sentences for me in his revision of Walker's collation of St. John, in the spring of 1884. M. Berger suggests that the writer of these sortes also wrote the monogram at the end of the Gospel of St. John (Bulletin Critique, p. 364, 1884).

Page xii, line 3, Habet Apostolus uersus IIII. DCCCC. LXVIIIC. Mr. J. Rendel Harris (in the American Journal of Philology, vol. v. p. 94, 1884) has pointed out that we have here a mixture of two readings, one of which gave St. Paul 4968 uersus, the other 5000, and that the final c was a correction probably placed originally over the LXVIII. Cp. the note on fol. 183, 2, below.

Page xii, line 10, at the end of 2 Cor. Scribta [de] Macedoniā uersus ΔLXX<sup>c</sup>. Mr. Harris explains the enigma, I think correctly, by supposing that the scribe of the archetype, in representing the Greek stichometry of Euthalius and other writers and the scribes of early Greek MSS. (who give this epistle 590 stichi), mistook the symbol for 90 (Q, which is generally ζ, and often degenerates into  $\mathcal{S}$ ) and misread it as 60 ( $\mathcal{E}$ ), which is often like the latter form. The corrector then wrote X° above it; but, as in the foregoing case, our scribe wrote both text and correction side by side. "The same mistake is repeated in the subscription to the Galatians 'Scribta de urbe Roma uersi CCLXIIIXC.... The proper number of verses to the Galatians is 293.... The same error in reading the sign for 90 is found in the subscription to Titus, which has 67 verses instead of 97, and in 1 Thess." Mr. Harris proceeds, "The common confusion between H and N has given rise to an error in Philippians, which has 350 verses instead of 208." The result is that with these corrections the stichometry of the MS. is nearly identical with that of Euthalius and early Greek MSS.

The asterisk draws attention to a corrected number.

Unfortunately none of these totals agrees with either of the two mentioned in the MS. itself, viz. 4968 or 5000. There is therefore something still unexplained.

von Gebhardt writes Th. Lizg. p. 595, 1884) that it had probably taken place as early as the XVth century, only at Vis. IV. 3 instead of Vis. III. 8. This he infers from the fragment contained in Cod. Paris. Lat. 5613, which was almost certainly copied from our MS., and which ends at Vis. IV. 3 with the words 'alba autem pars superuenturi seculi.' He adds that Tischendorf possessed a copy of the fragment of Hermas in our MS., which was used by Harnack in 1877 and by himself in 1882.

Uebersetzung aus der Zeit vor Hieronymus nach Codex ff<sup>1</sup> Corbeiensis, &c., Christiania, P. T. Malling, 1883. I have also printed it in a more exact form from a collation kindly made by Prof. V. Jernstedt of St. Petersburg, with an essay on its relation to other texts in the volume of Studia Biblica (Essays in Biblical Archaeology and Criticism); by Oxford scholars, to be published early in this year at the University Press (1885).

Page 64, note 3, add:—As the Greek Testament collations belonging to Walker were bought from his heirs by Trinity College under my Grandfather's master'ship (1820-1841), and were not part of the collections left by Dr. Bentley's nephew Richard to the College (see Bentley's Correspondence, p. 807, note to p. 552, l. 5), it is perhaps less likely that they were in Bentley's hands at the time of Walker's death. But the whole matter is obscure.

Pages 68-79, in the headlines of column 1 read Martianaeus (for Martinaeus) and correct the notes on iii. 11, vi. 29, xii. 1, xxiii. 34, xxv. 41, xxvi. 70, in all but one of which (vi. 29) Martianay's reading is correct or partly correct. In vi. 29 read 'quia' in col. 2 instead of om.

Besides Mr. Harris, I have to thank Professor Ernest von Ranke for his notice of the book in Lit. Centralblatt, p. 1410 foil., Oct. 4, 1884; Dr. Hermann Roensch in Hilgenfeld's Zeitschrift; Dr. O. von Gebhardt in the Theologische Literaturzeitung, p. 594 foll., Dec. 13, 1884; Prof. S. Berger in the Paris Bulletin Critique, pp. 361-366, Sept. 15, 1884; Dr. C. R. Gregory in the Guardian, Aug. 1884, p. 1034; my colleague, Dr. W. Sanday, in the Academy, p. 177 f., Sept. 20, 1884, and several others. The encouragement of so many eminent scholars shews that the utility of the series is recognized by those best qualified to express a judgment.
